Few Offices at Stake This Year

Primary Candidates To Shift Campaigns Into High Gear

Candidates for state, district and county officers are preparing to shift campaigns into high gear seeking votes in the May 8 primaries just a month from tomorrow.

Because it's a "short ballot" year with few offices at stake, the election is expected to create only a minimum of interest.

On the county level, Republicans and Democrats will choose candidates for commissioner, auditor, state representative and common pleas judge.

Columbiana County also will vote as part of the 18th Congressional District, picking candidates for a seat in the House of Representatives, and as a segment of the 20th-22nd State Senatorial District, naming aspirants for one seat in the upper house of the General Assembly.

The two parties also will elect members of their county and state central committees.

Two Republican races will highlight Columbiana County balloting, a three-way race for a single nomination as county commissioner and a two-man contest for the county auditor's nomination. Democrats have no contests on the county level and two other GOP incumbents are unopposed.

The GOP commissioners' race has as candidates Samuel B. Webster of East Liverpool, a former city councilman; James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, operator of the Boyd Lumber Co. at Glenmoor, and William H. Weir of Salem RD 2, proprietor of a Salem wallpaper and paint store. The two hold-over commissioners are Republicans—Walter Hunston of East Palestine and Galen Greenstein of near Salem.

In the GOP race for the county auditor's nomination are Mrs. Gloria L. McElroy of Wellsville, a housewife and former pottery office worker, and T. Emerson

Lisbon Man Killed In Mine Landslide

Richard Hill, 36, of RD 1, Lisbon, father of nine children, was fatally injured at 2:45 p.m. Friday when a landslide buried the power shovel he was operating at a strip mine operation at the Tassie Coal Co. on Rt. 30, seven miles northwest of East Liverpool.

Deputy Coroner R. C. Costello of East Liverpool ruled accidental death.

Mr. Hill, who resided on Mattix Road, off Rt. 164 south of Lisbon, was crushed under tons of rock, shale and earth.

James Blair of Columbiana, mine foreman, witnessed the accident and pressed bulldozers into action in an effort to extricate the victim. Mr. Hill was pronounced dead at East Liverpool City Hospital.

An experienced power shovel operator, Mr. Hill had been employed for a number of years by the A.B.C. Mining Co. of Lisbon prior to accepting a job with the Tassie firm three years ago.

Mr. Hill was born in Lisbon Oct. 30, 1925, a son of Ance and Martha Howard Hill. He resided in this vicinity his entire life.

A World War II veteran, he was a member of the A.M.E. Zion Church of Lisbon.

Besides his mother he leaves his wife, Bernice; nine children, Richard, Thomas, Peter, Bernice, Joanna, Martha, Brenda, Sandra and Tracy; three sisters Misses Erma and Francine Hill of Lisbon and Mrs. Marion Grimes of Lisbon, and a brother, Jack, serving in the Air Force in Massachusetts.

Car Strikes Culvert; 10 Youths Hurt

Ten Youngstown area youths riding in one automobile were injured Friday night on Rt. 90, three miles south of Poland, when their car left the highway.

According to the State Highway Patrol, George Hinerman Jr., 18, of RD 1, Canfield, was driving north on Rt. 90, failed to negotiate a curve, went off the road, struck a culvert and overturned.

Receiving minor lacerations and contusions were:

George Hinerman Jr., 18, Meadow Brook Road, Youngstown.

Ronald R. Smith, 15, RD 2, Youngstown.

Dave White, 14, Cattandin Drive, Poland.

Sally Wilson, 16, Woodland Drive, Poland.

Betty Wilson, 14, Woodland Drive, Poland.

Others injured include:

Grati Hurtford, 14, Woodland Drive, Poland, lacerations of eye and hand.

Harry Wilson, 15, Woodland Drive, Poland, puncture of right leg and concussion.

William Smith, 18, fractured nose, hip and back injury.

Kenneth Ghering, 18, of W. Blvd., Youngstown, compound fracture of left leg and a skull fracture.

Investigation of the accident is continuing, the Patrol said.

Kenneth E. Warrick, 21, of 118 Prospect St., Columbiana, was arrested for driving left of center after the car he was driving went off the left side of Rt. 164, one-half mile south of Columbiana, at 1:35 a.m. today and struck a power pole.

U.S. Treasure Hunters Freed By Castro

Seven Arrested by Cubans While on Exploration Trip

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Seven American treasure hunters under arrest in Cuba expect to leave there Sunday, the captain of the expedition telephoned his wife today. "The Cuban government has cleared us," Gordon S. Patton reported.

Mrs. Patton said her husband also told her: "We have been getting the red carpet treatment."

"We expect to leave by plane, possibly tomorrow."

Innocent Adventures

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday night he anticipated no difficulty in gaining freedom for the men, believed to be the same ones for whom the U.S. Coast Guard has been searching. Rusk said the men were innocent adventurers en route to Jamaica to explore for sunken treasure.

Havana radio, describing the seven as "so-called frogmen," said they were arrested Thursday off the north coast of Oriente Province. Later, a semi-official Havana television commentator, Marion Kuchlan, called the seven invaders, hinting that they might face serious charges in Cuba.

The Coast Guard had been searching since Wednesday for a boat carrying seven skindivers. Coast Guard officials called off the search pending further developments, although the Cuban broadcasts had not identified the men-by-name.

Relatives of the missing men speculated they might have drifted into Cuban waters while searching for sunken ships and undersea treasure. Their boat left Pompano Beach, Fla., last Saturday and was due in Jamaica Tuesday.

State Department officials said Swiss officials were being asked to check on the captives and obtain their release. Switzerland has handled U.S. affairs in Cuba since the United States broke relations with Cuba.

The seven men sought by the Coast Guard and believed to be the ones held in Cuba, were identified in Miami as:

Gordon S. Patton, 62, Ocean City, Md., charter boat and maritime museum operator; Fred Dickson Jr., 32, formerly of Ocean City, N. J., assistant cruise direc-

ON TO REGIONAL BEE — These five winners at the county spelling bee at Beaver Local High School Friday night will advance to the regional spelldown in Canton April 27. The winner there will vie in the National Bee later in Washington, D.C. The county winners are (l. to r.) seated: Cathy Curl of Columbiana, runnerup; Malcolm Ogilvie of East Liverpool, first place; Donna Sargent of Fairfield-Waterford, third; standing, Martha Williams of East Liverpool, fourth, and Melody Lutton of East Liverpool, fifth.

French Okay of Truce Expected

Voters To Ballot on Algeria Pact Sunday

PARIS (AP) — French voters are expected to give the massive approval President Charles de Gaulle seeks when they ballot in Sunday's referendum ratifying peace accords paving the way for Algerian independence.

Some observers predicted up to 90 per cent of the voters would favor the cease-fire.

But several big political parties have refused to accept De Gaulle's contention that approval of the accord would mean endorsement of his past actions and a mandate to go ahead as he sees fit.

The Communists and socialists have strongly favored peace in Algeria, but they insist their votes cannot be considered approval of De Gaulle's policies in other fields.

Despite the cease-fire blood was being shed in Algeria. At least 10 persons were killed within three hours today in separate terrorist attacks on Algiers and Oran.

The two-week campaign for the accords has stirred little interest

East Liverpool Boy Wins County Bee

A sixth grade student at East Liverpool Taft School, unimpaired by the upper class pupils against whom he was competing, emerged victorious in the annual countywide spelling bee at Beaver Local High School Friday night.

Malcolm Ogilvie, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Donald M. Ogilvie, defeated 31 other county spelling champs in the contest which lasted an hour and 40 minutes and consumed 241 words in 21 rounds.

The five last remaining students in the spelldown earned the right to participate in the regional bee at Timken Vocational High School in Canton April 27.

The winner at Canton will enter the national spelling bee later in Washington, D.C.

Besides Malcolm, the other four county pupils who advanced to the Canton spelldown are:

KATHY CURL, eighth grader at Columbiana High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Curl of RD 1, Columbiana, runnerup.

Donna Sargent, eighth grade student at Fairfield School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sargent of New Waterford, third.

Martha Williams, eighth grader at East Liverpool Westgate Junior High and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williams, fourth.

Melody Lutton, eighth grade pupil at East Liverpool East Junior High and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lutton, fifth.

One of the Salem entrants, David Crowe, an eighth grader at Junior High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. William Crowe of 1987 Southeast Blvd., just missed becoming eligible for the Canton bee. David missed the word "incessant," substituting an "e" for the "a." With his retirement from the contest, only the five county winners remained.

participants, listed in the order of their duration in the bee, were:

City police said that Roth stated he swung his car to the right in order to avoid hitting a car in front of him and ran into the sign and building.

New Opinion By Solicitor Backs Auditor

Ruling On $12,842 Deal Contradicts Former Solicitor

Solicitor Thomas Coe threw a "bombshell" into the Salem parking meter controversy Friday by ruling that the $12,842 worth of new parking meters obtained by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer last winter were ordered illegally and can not be paid for by the city.

The meters were for downtown curb stalls and municipal parking lots.

"Any attempt to pay the Magee-Hale Co. for the meters obtained in 1961 would place a legal duty upon me, as city solicitor, to bring court action to enjoin the payment," Atty. Coe wrote in his opinion. City Auditor Helen Coyne had requested an opinion by the solicitor.

The auditor has steadfastly refused to pay for the meters, insisting they were ordered illegally.

Coe and the auditor are Republicans. Cranmer is a Democrat.

Coe's opinion contradicts a ruling of the previous city solicitor, Atty. Scott McCorkhill, who said the ordering of the meters by Mayor Cranmer was legal. McCorkhill was solicitor at the time the meters were obtained.

No Fund Certification

Coe ruled that the mayor, in ordering the meters, failed to get certification from the auditor that funds to pay for them were available or in the process of collection.

"The lack of the required certificate, therefore, is fatal to the contract and the contract must be

Liquor Chief Rips Campbell Police Raid

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — State Liquor Director George R. Dick accused Campbell police of closing down a liquor "cheat spot" at 3:15 a.m. today to spoil a raid led by Dick minutes later.

Twenty-seven agents swooped down on the alleged cheat spot, the Big Jim Barbecue, at 3:25 a.m. and found only one "customer"—an undercover agent, Fred Joseph of Columbus, who had preceded the party in an effort to collect evidence. Dick said the place did not have a liquor license.

Joseph said two Campbell policemen arrived at Big Jim's ten minutes ahead of the scheduled raid. Then the lights started going off to signal that the place was being closed. Joseph said, adding that the policemen seemed to be hurrying some 60 customers out of the place.

"I heard people commenting that state agents were on the way," Joseph said.

Campbell Police Lt. William Halase denied advance knowledge of the state raid and said it was just coincidence that he and patrolman Robert Kish made their raid a few minutes before the state party arrived.

Police booked two persons, a barmaid, Peggy Wilson, 24, of Youngstown was charged with illegal sale of liquor and Frank Square, 43, of Campbell, was charged with being keeper of the place where the liquor was sold. The two were released on $100 bond each.

They Walked With Christ

ANNA The Prophetess

"And there was one Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phineas, of the tribe of Aser: she was of a great age."

— Luke II: 36

Although the Scripture refers to this pious widow as a "prophetess," it is clear from the context that she was a mystic in the better sense of the word, rather than a mere soothsayer.

Like Jacob, from whom her tribe claimed descent, she struggled with the mysteries of God, seeking an understanding beyond man's world.

Even though she was eighty-four years old, her advanced age had not dimmed her spiritual vision. Rather, she had quickened it by "fastings and prayers night and day."

A familiar figure in the Temple, where she spent most of her time, she must have been an inspiration to those who came to worship and pray.

There were many who had a greater knowledge of the Scriptures than she—the Scribes and publicans, and Pharisees. But among them there were few who loved God more. And, as Pascal has observed, "How far it is from the knowledge of God to a love of Him!"

Because of her devotion and constant attendance at the Temple, she entered just as Simeon uttered his moving prayer of thanks to God for the privilege of holding in his arms the Salvation of the world.

And she "gave thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spake of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem."

How was it, we may ask, that both Simeon and Anna instantly recognized in the small bundle that Mary held in her arms, the supernatural power and majesty of the awaited King of Kings?

Was it a happy coincidence, a bit of fortunate guesswork on the part of two wishful thinkers who had dwelt overlong on the words and promise of the prophets?

No, the Evangelist makes it clear in his brief account that Anna and Simeon had prepared themselves by devotion, fastings and prayer to know God when he appeared before them.

Wheel of Fortune Slips, Two Girls To Reign at Festival

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two pretty young girls have learned, as any gambler knows, that the wheel of fortune has some strange habits.

This time it turned up two winners, so Miss Rhode Island and Miss Colorado reign jointly today as queen of Washington's 50th annual Cherry Blossom Festival.

Asakai gave the big wheel of states a healthy spin Friday night to pick a winner. Round and round it went, and it finally stopped at the notch labeled Colorado.

Kathleen Knous, 19, stepped forward to be wrapped in the queen's robe and don a 100,000 pearl crown. The pink, pearl-embroidered robe was already around her shoulders when, it seemed, Lady Luck got other ideas.

The wheel suddenly began to slip backward. A quick click and it was in the Rhode Island notch. "This wheel does funny things, ladies and gentlemen," said John A. Logan, chairman of the festival ball. Frances Elizabeth Pastore of Rhode Island was called forward to don the queenly regalia.

Miss Knous was near tears.

Miss Pastore, 18-year-old daughter of Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., was amazed. "I just can't believe it," she said. Soon she, too was near tears.

"We realized this Colorado child was going to be terribly hurt," Logan said afterward. So the festival queen committee, headed by Logan and Perle Mesta, huddled to seek a way out. They talked about it for nearly an hour.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, along with many others among the 1,200 at the ball, was for co-queens. He called out the suggestion in the confusion that followed the wheel switch.

Miss Pastore was all for co-queens, too.

And coqueens it is, for the first time in festival history.

The cherry trees that surround Washington's Tidal Basin were a gift from Japan, symbolizing friendship with the United States. The first of the trees was planted in 1912.

Princesses from 50 states, Guam and Puerto Rico vied for the queenly honors.

Miss Pastore is 18 and attends the Stone Ridge Country Day School of the Sacred Heart in Nearby Montgomery County, Md.

Miss Knous, daughter of Colorado Lt. Gov. Robert L. Knous, is a student at the University of Colorado.

Fairfield Methodists To Hear College Group

EAST FAIRFIELD — King's Choralaires, a girls trio from Asbury (Ky.) College, will present a program of songs during the Sunday morning service.

Kindergarten Registration Is Planned

Registration for children who are eligible to enter Salem kindergartens next September will be held next week, according to the following schedule:

Monday 1 to 3 p.m., Buckeye School gym; Tuesday, 9 to 11 a.m. or 1 to 3, Reilly School; Wednesday 9 to 11 a.m. or 1 to 3, Fourth St. School; Thursday 9 to 11 a.m. Prospect School; Thursday, 1 to 3 p.m., McKinley School.

Pupils should register at the school closest to their residence. Rural residents will register at Fourth St. School, with the exception of those living on the Depot, Stewart, Newgarden, Cider Mill, Georgetown, and Damascus Roads, who will register at Prospect School.

Any child who will be five years old on or before Sept. 30 is eligible for admission to kindergarten in September. This birth date must be verified by a birth certificate at the time of registration.

By recent action of the Board of Education, no pupil shall be admitted to the Salem kindergartens unless written evidence satisfactory to the school nurse is provided that the child has against smallpox, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

At the time of registration the parent should bring along this evidence also in writing.

It is urgent that all parents register their children now to assure a place for their child in next year's kindergartens. Late registration could keep a child out of school even though he was older than other children who were enrolled.

School officials are attempting to limit the size of each kindergarten session to 35. This limitation will enable teachers to give more attention to the kindergarten readiness program basic to the developing ungraded primary program in Salem schools. To facilitate this readiness program principals will assign kindergarten children closest to six years of age to the afternoon sessions while those closest to five will be assigned to the morning session, announced Supt. Paul E. Smith.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Three Keys to Happiness

A petulant young woman told me she was going to divorce her husband. And the reason? "I have been married to him now for six months," she said, "and he doesn't make me happy."

Dr. Peale

"So you are going to get another husband, are you?" I asked. "And get him to make you happy? Is that it?" I soon learned that this was the pampered child of a flutty mother whose one idea in life had been that her "darling baby" should be happy. So when the girl who had never grown up emotionally got married it was not with the thought of being a good man's partner in life's endeavors. No, her husband was supposed to make her happy — that was all. Unconsciously she was looking for another doting mother, you might say.

The true purpose of marriage is for a husband and wife to form a team to rear children, help make the world a better place and advance the welfare of mankind. If the partners to a marriage pursue those objectives they will have happiness aplenty along the way.

IT IS PARADOXICAL that if you want to be happy you should not try too hard to be happy. People who go all out for happiness usually miss it. If you make happiness your goal it eludes you. But in the process of pursuing certain other values you find happiness and lots of it.

The first key to happiness is faith. That is basic. Without faith we cannot endure serenely the tough times in life when adversities, afflictions, difficulties gang up on us for which no remedy seems in sight. As a result happiness vanishes. Maybe we go to pieces altogether. The person who has faith in God's providence has even when things are tough. Having done everything he can do, such a person confidently leaves the situation in God's hands, knowing that the solution will be revealed later on. "Whoso trusteth in the Lord," says Solomon in the Book of Proverbs, "happy is he."

A SECOND KEY to happiness is growth — one's own growth. It can be growth in skill, understanding, kindness or any other virtue. Do not make the mistake of becoming satisfied with yourself as you are today. Do not go around for months on end or even years unchanged, being the same old person, lugging with you the self-same wirks and foibles and limitations. If you never change and develop, then unconsciously you will get tired of yourself and life will go stale and unhappiness will plague you.

Lee Bristol of the Bristol Meyers Drug Company tells how his mother would invariably ask each child arriving home, "Has your soul grown today?" Even when his mother had reached the age of 90 and he would drive over to her house to see her — being himself by then past 60 years of age — one of her first greetings would be the searching question, "Lee, has your soul grown today?" Mrs. Bristol Sr., was a very wise woman. She knew how inseparable are growth of mind and soul and happiness in life. Without growth life withers.

THIRDLY, IF YOU would be a happy person, concern yourself with the welfare of others. The door to happiness will open wide to anyone using this key. The Bible tells us that by saving his life a man loses it, but by laying it down for the Lord's sake he finds it. Also we are told it is more blessed to give than to receive. The law of life is that people who are intent only upon receiving happiness cease to receive it, but those who give happiness find that blessing somehow returns to them in large measure.

This truth applies in matrimony just as much as in all aspects of life. The really successful marriage is where man and wife are primarily concerned for each other's happiness, rather than for their own. Emerson remarked that happiness is like perfume in this sense, that you cannot sprinkle it upon others without a lot of it being wafted back to you.

Topics of Interest To Farmers; Notes About Meetings

Sheep Committeemen Named

Three committeemen were elected for three-year terms at the annual winter meeting and banquet of the Columbiana-Mahoning Carroll sheep producers Thursday evening in Carrollton, according to Don Myers, Columbiana County extension agent in agriculture.

They are Herman Royer of Columbiana, Ray Flickinger of Beloit RD (Mahoning County), Richard Rutledge of Carrollton. Speakers were Ralph Grimshaw, extension sheep specialist at Ohio State University, and Vernon Crouse of North Lima, who showed pictures.

John Raley of Rogers, chairman of the organization, presided at the business meeting. The committeemen will meet April 19 in the county extension offices in Lisbon to elect officers.

Absentee, Disabled Ballots Available At Election Board

Civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots for the May 8 primaries will become available Monday at the County Election Board office in East Liverpool.

May 3 at 4 p.m. will be deadline for issuing the ballots, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, pointed out. To be counted at the polls on election day, they must be back at the board's office by noon May 4.

The absentee ballots are for persons who will be outside Columbiana County and at least 10 miles from their home precinct on election day. Disabled voters' ballots are for persons unable to get to the polls because of illness or infirmity.

As in the past, the board will assign deputy clerks to supervise voting of disabled voters' ballots in hospitals, nursing homes and other public and semi-public institutions, O'Hanlon said.

Persons who know in advance that they will be in a hospital on election day for treatment or surgery may apply for conventional absentee ballots, O'Hanlon said.

Absentee ballots have been available since March 9 for personnel of the armed forces and civilians residing temporarily outside the U.S. Applications for this type of ballot may be filed until May 5 at noon. They will be delivered to their proper precincts if received by the election board until noon on election day.

Countdown time . . . 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, ZERO. America's heart skipped a beat. We held our breath through hours of suspense. And finally, the rescue. Mission accomplished.

Immediate reaction: "Thank God!" This was the cry of America, the mighty prayer which rose from its heart in a spontaneous flash of gratitude. THANK GOD.

It was pride we felt, pride in our skill and our scientific knowledge. But there was something more. There was FAITH. When man travels into the unknown, he needs the hand of God.

A new age has begun for mankind. Many more great days of exploration are ahead. Man will need the best products of mind and hand to conquer space.

But through every accomplishment, he will continue to need faith. Always from his heart will rise a fervent prayer, knowing that Divine help must be with him.

Don't Let the Experts Fool You

President Kennedy has made a 10,000-word proposal for putting new zing into mass transportation, which will be one more proposal Congress can look at without touching it with a 10-foot pole.

Until the text has been circulated comment must be held to generalities, but one generality needs to be hammered hard.

Transportation experts are not to be trusted.

That is a generality. But the reason for distrusting transportation experts is that they are planners of other people's lives.

They concoct theories about how much better off the other fellow would be if he would let planners tell him what to do and then do it. And one of the pet ideas of transportation planners is mass transportation. They get rhapsodic about its possibilities.

... if only everybody who needs to get somewhere would leave his automobile at home and go by bus, train, subway, or airplane instead, there would be no traffic jams ...

THAT'S THE WAY a planner thinks about transportation. Whereupon he puts his paper work back into his dispatch case, hops into his automobile and drives home.

Or he dreams up something on a slide rule about moving freight on rails instead of highways, because railroads need more business and highways don't need more trucks, then orders something from a store 100 miles away and wants it delivered the next afternoon.

No one has doubted for a generation that a national transportation policy would help legislators straighten out their tangled thoughts on where to apply the public paddle and where to bestow the public blessing. But at the same time no one has had any doubts, if he has been following the twistings and turnings of transportation players, that these fellows take too many turns for the worse.

They are full of ideas about what other people should do. But when it is a matter of their own convenience they do what most other people do — use their own cars.

THEY DO THIS in personal transportation because they do not want to be at the mercy of public transportation schedules, breakdowns and labor troubles. They put convenience ahead of logic.

It is a good guess they have been doing the same thing in freight transportation, except they consider cost as well as convenience when they eschew logic in bulk transportation.

If transportation experts have conned our young president into some dream of weighting the scales for logic by spending public money to subsidize public transportation, someone should wake him up. Someone will. Congress, we expect.

No one tells anybody in America what he must do to get where's he going. We just tell each other where to go and it's up to each individual to get there.

It isn't logical, but we like it.

The Problem Is Louisiana

A district federal court order to integrate the first six grades of public school in New Orleans next fall follows by a few days strong evidence that Catholic parochial schools in the city are going to be integrated on pain of excommunication for church members who resist.

Does this mean there finally will be something more than token integration in New Orleans—a dozen Negroes attending half a dozen New Orleans schools?

Have the federal court and the Catholic Church found a way to force actual integration in the most urbane city of the Deep South?

The answer is not an automatic yes, though the combination of bench and pulpit is formidable. The complication is that New Orleans cannot control the outcome of the issue. It is dominated by the state in which it is situated.

The problem is Louisiana. New Orleans is one of the great cities of the Western World — cosmopolitan, cultured, jealous of its reputation as one of civilization's showplaces. As such, it has nothing in common with the kind of Louisiana politician whose stock in trade is racial discrimination.

The metropolis is the prisoner of the boondocks and the kind of politics that goes over best in the boondocks. This is shameful and embarrassing to the sophisticated residents of New Orleans. They, too, have prejudices but they have the restraint to govern their prejudices. They are jealous of their city's good name.

The integration problem will be with them in acute form next year. Louisiana politicians will make certain of that. Once more there will be riots staged for television, imported goons to make certain nothing is done without violence, orators brought in from the back country to stir up hatred and arm-waving politicians shilling for white supremacy votes. It will be another Little Rock for race-baiters—and don't be surprised if agitators from neighboring Arkansas show up.

They would be repaying the Louisianans who helped Arkansas politicians give Little Rock a black eye.

Twisted Road to Fame

For seven long and arduous years, Edward Kirkpatrick, PhD, of the University of Toledo, sweat and toiled on a project involving re-entry of space vehicles into the earth's atmosphere. Except for a few mathematicians, his efforts went unrecognized.

Then suddenly fame came to the eminent doctor.

The university students were having a dance. As a stunt to add novelty to the affair, Dr. Kirkpatrick, "threw" together in two hours, a contraption which he called a twistometer, a device to measure the performance of twist dancers.

The stunt attracted nationwide attention. A flood of mail poured in from all sections of the country.

A girl in New Jersey inquired about enrolling in the school's engineering department.

Another inquiry came from Carnegie Institute of Technology and manufacturing concerns as far away as California wanted detailed plans and indicated a desire to market the device.

And what about Prof. Kirkpatrick?

He's back to earth in his laboratory still working on his project to get space vehicles back to earth. Some men just won't accept fame even when it's thrust upon them.

All a woman needs in order to have a husband she can control is a temper she can't.

If brevity is the soul of wit we should get some real laughs at the bathing beaches this summer.

The fruits of carelessness and thoughtlessness can easily upset your apple cart.

Nature can duck the blame for some of the hot air this summer. We have politicians.

Once Over

Syrian, Argentine, Cuban and Berlin situations have been eclipsed by crisis involving the Protectorate of Taylorland, the Republic of Eddiefisher and the Commonwealth of Burton. Call for Louis Nizer instead of General Assembly or Geneva has averted world war but conflict between Britain and America would still come over alleged violation of U.S. territorial rights to Elizabeth. (She has been regarded as American possession under Monroe Doctrine, Twentieth Century-Fox Treaty and Hague Convention rulings.)

Where would NATO stand in case of war? Eddie at first wanted NATO called in, but Liz insisted it keep hands off. Formation of a "KTH" (Keep Taylor Hitched) organization has been called off.

Worldwide repercussions are still being felt. In Asia anti-American feeling aroused cries of "Burton, yes; Fisher no." De Gaulle still refuses to state attitude. Italy was against immediate peace settlement because the Liz-Tony-Eddie crisis put Italy far up scale as world power. Syrian revolt may have been due to poor coverage of the story.

Britain denies having considered air and naval support to Burton who claims no aggression or unfriendly act was involved in playing Romeo while cast as Mark Antony.

Until Nizer was summoned to Italy, Washington favored reappraisal of entire situation. It had plan to blockade Burton, impose sanctions against press agents for "Cleopatra" and deport photographers to remote island. President Kennedy had been for high level talks in hope Burton might quit area of conflict, sign a nonaggression pact with Fisher and agree to Roman night-club inspections.

Rumors persist that Russia is sending technical aid to Elizabeth. "Keep this Cleopatra crisis in papers and world will not even notice what Soviets are doing" is said to be Moscow attitude. World tensions are still high, but there is feeling important issues may yet get priority in global debates.

TV's "International Showtime" recently introduced two really great comedians, Tony Hancock and Eric Sykes, both Britishers, whose talents and ideas of comedy could well be studied by many American comics. No reaching for laughs at any price, no leers, no frenzied overplanning; just genuine talent, marvelous sense of timing, and keen knowledge of what is genuine humor.

Premier Khrushchev, proving himself flamboyantly undeterred by the New Frontier's determined show of civility, remains, without question, the modern world's most bellicose statesman. He leaves Red China's Mao Tse-tung, for example, in the department of second rate so far as the art of threatening is concerned—at least in public utterances.

Khrushchev's latest in the threat department is, of course, the claim to powerful new global rockets that can, so to speak, come in through America's South polar window, while this country's defenders are intently watching the Arctic door.

Mr. Khrushchev and his defense ministers also have claimed to have an anti-missile missile in the works, thus presenting the picture of an America that not only is helpless to prevent nuclear devastation but unable to retaliate effectively.

Washington doesn't believe either.

But ever since the new Soviet test series, which brought the Russians stunning new advances, there has been a good deal of anguished, albeit vague, prophesying in the Western World about the dreadful future, for the first time in nuclear history, the Russians were by common consent to shift the balance of power in their favor.

What really would happen if the nightmare were realized? Would a shift to the Russians of the balance of power automatically bring on a chain reaction and disaster for the West?

FRANCE, the leading lesson for our time of how even a European nation larger than Albania can defy the Russians, does not think so.

President de Gaulle has said: "What do I care if the Russians can kill France ten times over, if I can kill the Russians once" (meaning reach any important part of Russia with nuclear weapons). De Gaulle is assuming of course that no matter how many anti-missile missiles Khrushchev produces, the West can still get through to Russia with something.

Therefore all Khrushchev's hydrogen bombs and all Khrushchev's threats cannot eliminate the central reality that if he permits nuclear war, Russia will be blown into the kind of bits that will be very hard to put back together again.

De Gaulle contends, in other words, that the balance of terror is insufficient as a concept and indeed that the area of decision is in the balance of wills.

Learning from one's enemies is alas a lamentably lagging enterprise in today's Washington. Nonetheless there is high potential return in examining closely the records of how Russia managed to operate at a geographical and political profit (at our expense) in those years when the United States was the sole possessor of the atomic bomb, and the strongest world power, and additionally was the only major power whose industrial real estate had not been shattered by bombs.

Stalin had the will to act as if Russia were the greatest world power, and to test the will of America. This correspondent was present in Poland during the beginning of one of the first great tests of wills. Cautiously, ever so cautiously, the Russians set about waltzing on the Yalta Pact, providing for Polish self determination.

Balance of Wills

By MARGUERITE HIGGINS

SOVIET EXPERTS like Charles Bohlen argued that the Red Army was in Poland, so there was nothing that all America's balance of power could avail those Poles who so desperately wanted to keep their freedom, however there was no responsible diplomat on the scene in Poland at that time who agreed with Mr. Bohlen.

America did absolutely nothing effective about Poland. What Stalin deduced thereby of America's will to act is recorded by the historical fact that between 1945 and 1950 the Soviet Union took over all of East Europe. Indeed it was during the period between 1945 and 1950 — the period when the world balance of power was America's proud solitary but unused possession — that the Communist empire expanded at a rate conservatively estimated at between 45 and 50 square miles an hour.

Is the only correct question therefore this one: If Russia did all that when America had the balance of power, what won't it do if this becomes Moscow's possession?

Or is it possible to ask whether even the democracies could not overcome the theoretical and practical odds of a shift in the balance of power and wonder if De Gaulle may not be showing us the way?

Tax Return Audit

By JOSEPH R. SLEVIN

WASHINGTON — There's better than an outside chance that the Internal Revenue Service will call you in this year for an audit of your tax return but a trim, ex-intercollegiate middleweight boxing champion says to keep cool and take it in stride.

The former boxer is Mortimer M. Caplin, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and he's ordered his agents to examine more returns in the future than they have in the past. The agents will pull out some returns at random and Mr. Caplin says no taxpayer can feel certain his return will not be audited.

"I don't think any adverse inference ought to be drawn by anyone because his return is selected for audit," Mr. Caplin said in an interview.

"In the great majority of cases, there is nothing wrong on the return. It's just like you check your grocer's bill or your bank statement. I've been trying to get this message across."

MR. CAPLIN talks about tax audits with some feeling since an agent was in his Charlottesville, Va., law office, going over his returns, when White House associate Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher telephone that President Kennedy would announce his appointment within a few hours.

"It became obvious, what we were talking about," Mr. Caplin recalled. "The agent said 'Mr. Caplin, I feel very foolish.' I said go ahead, it's your job. But I have a feeling the process accelerated some."

Mr. Caplin is a 46-year-old New Yorker, with a fondness for bowties, who was teaching tax law at the University of Virginia and practicing as a partner with Perkins, Battle, and Minor when the President tapped him for the Internal Revenue post.

He had been a member of Mr. Kennedy's pre-inaugural tax committee and his Virginia Law School pupils had included Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and Massachusetts senatorial candidate Edward M. (Teddy) Kennedy.

"We had a statewide practice," Mr. Caplin said. "In a town like Charlottesville, to have 13 lawyers in a firm was unheard of. The average firm in Virginia has two or three. I had a very active tax practice and had a broad range of experience there which I find extremely useful up here."

MR. CAPLIN was sworn in 14 months ago and he has been trying ever since to get rid of some of the speed-up, management efficiency techniques that were in-

From the Bats

By WARD CANNEL

Science Astonished With Belfry-Dweller

Quick, everybody, pack a lunch. Here we go again into the experimental biology laboratory—eternal life department.

After decades of work on mice, monkeys and guinea pigs, the life sciences are slowly realizing that a big key to nature may be hanging upside down with the bats in your belfry.

Those furry little wings-for-hands mammals weigh little more than a pack of cigarettes. But it turns out that bats:

1. Live upwards of a quarter of a century — about 20 times longer than any comparable animal, and often longer than a horse.
2. Adjust perfectly to the day—their body temperature capable of ranging from 120 degrees in a hot attic to near freezing in a dark cave during hibernation.
3. Successfully fight off virus disease attacks that are usually lethal to man and beast, and show no arterial or coronary ill effects after a lifetime of a high cholesterol diet.

THERE'S ONLY ONE problem amidst all this magnificence, says Dr. Philip Krutzsch of the University of Pittsburgh, one of the nation's leading bat men:

"We don't know much about the bat himself—where he goes, how he lives, what he thinks. A laboratory large enough to keep bats in captivity would have to cover many acres and cost too much to build.

"To study bats today, we have to alter their living habits radically, keeping them confined or in artificial hibernation."

The only solution to the problem at present is public interest and cooperation, says Dr. Wayne Davis of Middlebury College in Vermont, and editor of the quarterly "Bat Banding News."

"For 30 years now," Dr. Davis says, "zoologists and the Fish and Wildlife Service have been banding bats with aluminum markers in an attempt to trace their travels and learn their living habits."

"Unhappily, however, most people are afraid to touch bats or—if they do spot a bat — don't know what it means or what to do about it. What this study needs first is public education."

WELL, WOULD YOU like to help conquer the virus, beat the weather, live an extra couple of hundred years, and maybe get a good winter's sleep?

Then make friends with a nearby bat. It's ridiculously simple, batmen say, once you have bypassed the little creature's nasty, vicious temper with reassurance and rubber gloves.

"At the beginning of a relationship," Dr. Krutzsch says, "the bat tends to be nervous and on guard. So be gentle and slow and he won't bite you—unless, of course, he has rabies."

Once befriended, however, he requires very little care. He'll live in your attic, sleeping during the day and going out to eat insects during the night. His family is very small. The little American brown bat usually has only one baby each year, and it is taken away for the winter.

As soon as he knows and likes you, he can also be taught all kinds of cunning tricks, such as flying into the dining room at supertime and begging on the table for meal worms, or following you around town in the evenings and sitting on your head or shoulders.

If you have company for dinner, or do not plan to be in town for the evening, simply put him in the refrigerator — making sure first that it's not much colder than 40 degrees.

"He'll love it, Dr. Krutzsch says.

Junior Colleges

One of every four students who entered college last fall went to a two-year institution.

California, which over 50 years has developed public junior colleges more than any other state, plans to add 22 such colleges to its present 69.

The New Jersey legislature now has before it a proposal to establish 23 "County Colleges"—which would be the first public state-sponsored two-year colleges.

Ohio agreed for the first time last year to set up public two-year colleges, and Indiana is considering following suit.

New York, which in 1950 had two public community colleges enrolling 700 full-and part-time students, now has 19 in operation and four in the planning stage. The total enrollment in the 19 this year is more than 42,000.

IN SHORT, the two-year college — whether it is called junior, community, technical institute or extension center — is booming.

The enrollment now in all 678 public and private two-year colleges in 49 states Nevada has none and the Territories "is 748,619, according to the just-published annual report of the American Association of Junior Colleges. This represents a 17 per cent jump over the 1953 enrollment.

And for the first time, the Senate has passed a bill which would give $250 million over five years in matching grants for building, facilities and land to public community colleges.

The Senate bill, totaling $2.67 billion over five years for college building aid and scholarships, was passed Feb. 6. It still must be reconciled with an earlier House version which contains no provision for community colleges or college scholarships.

If the junior college has grown up in the higher education world, it still has its major problems as well as its assets. The two are closely tied together.

One of the foremost assets of the two-year colleges today is that their growing numbers can help to beat the college boom. With college enrollments to double or triple by 1970, the two-year institutions could siphon off some of the pressure.

SEN. CLIFFORD P. CASE, R-N. J., a longtime champion of community colleges, even told the Senate last month that it is hoped that "junior colleges will be able to enroll 50 per cent of all students entering college by 1970."

A further plus is that through their dual function the two-year colleges can provide some of the desperately needed technicians, machinists and electricians for the scientific and engineering industries. Two-year colleges are both transfer — preparing the student for the last two years of college — and terminal, training the nurses, technicians and others who may need only two years of higher education.

But each of these assets has its problems. The social snobbery now surrounding "going to college" frowns on the two-year college as a second-best kind of education. Will enough parents be willing to send their children to community or junior colleges to really ease the college admission pressures? While there is no positive answer, it seems likely that they will have to, as there simply will not be enough room at four-year institutions.

DR. EDMUND J. GLEASER Jr., executive director of the American Association of Junior Colleges, was asked this week what could be done to enhance the attractiveness of the two-year college.

"There is a glamour in going, Gleaser conceded, which does not cling to a commuters' college. But, he added, "If the two-year to a residential college," Dr. college is made attractive, well over half of the high-school seniors will go to it, as they do in California and Florida.

His opinion was seconded by Dr. Morris Meister, president of Bronx Community College in New York City, who also put his finger on the problem of the dual function of two-year colleges.

"IDEALLY," HE SAID, "50 per cent of the students should be in transfer programs and the other half in terminal programs — designed to train the sub-professional, the technician now so desperately short in the manpower field. But at Bronx 60 per cent of our students want to go on to four-year colleges. We will never solve the manpower shortage that way."

But even with their problems, two-year colleges are leaping ahead. Full-time enrollment in New York State, for example, has jumped 112 per cent in five years from 7,715 in the fall of 1957 to 16,388 last fall.

So They Say

No great power has engaged in imperialism so briefly or so half-heartedly, and none has disengaged so eagerly.

—Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico, citing "unnecessarily widespread suspicion" of the United States in Latin America.

It is time to give American men, women and children the same protection we have been giving hogs, sheep and cattle since 1913.

—President Kennedy, asking Congress for new food and drug laws to protect the consumer.

Rebels Battle Government Troops

Pro-Castro Units Revolt In Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The army clamped a state of emergency on northcentral Ecuador today and hunted Castro-armed, pro-Communist guerrillas rebelling against the government of President Julio Carlos Arosemena.

Army reinforcements were rushed into the jungle-covered Andean foothills less than 50 miles from this South American mountain capital. Press reports said at least one soldier was killed and several persons were wounded in clashes. The army announced it had captured 30 insurgents.

Government officials refused to disclose details of the operation or comment on unconfirmed reports of similar uprisings in the Quevedo area of west central Ecuador.

The rebels were described as members of the pro-Castro Revolutionary Union of Ecuadorean Youth, some of whom had received military and guerrilla warfare training in Cuba. Informed sources said the insurgents were armed with Czech-made arms smuggled in from Cuba.

The uprising followed within 48 hours Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's public denunciation of Arosemena for breaking diplomatic relations with Havana. Castro also predicted that Arosemena would be overthrown.

Arosemena reluctantly severed Ecuador's ties with Cuba, Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia last week under pressure of the military. Ecuador's armed forces chiefs also forced Arosemena to reshuffle his Cabinet to exclude leftists and to swing his policies to the right.

Communist agitators have long been active in the hinterlands of Ecuador, a country of 4 million on the northwest coast of South America with severe economic and political problems.

Communist propaganda flowed into the countryside after reportedly being brought into the country in Cuban diplomatic pouches. Informants said the Czech Embassy bankrolled Ecuador's Communist party. These were some of the reasons the military insisted Arosemena break ties with Cuba, Poland and Czechoslovakia, the informants said.

Opinion

considered void by statute," Coe wrote.

When McCorkhill gave his opinion last winter that the purchase of the meters was legal, he cited a section in the Ohio Revised Code which states that certification by the auditor that money is available is not required for contracts on which payments are to be made from the earnings of a publicly-operated water or public utility.

Solicitor Coe, in his opinion issued yesterday, declared the parking meter contract does not come within the exceptions for a public utility as referred to by McCorkhill.

Coe said that the mayor did have the authority to enter into a contract with the Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co. of Oklahoma City for meters up to $500 worth. This was the amount that had appropriation ordinance for meters and meter maintenance.

Mayor Says Council Gave O.K.
Mayor Cranmer has stated that City Council instructed him verbally last winter to purchase the meters. He said no certification from the auditor was necessary because the meters were to be paid for over a period of years out of revenue produced by the meters.

The mayor cited the following section of the Ohio Revised code: "A parking meter charge is not a tax nor does a contract obligating a municipality to make a payment solely from a parking meter fund create a debt within the meaning of that term as used in the Constitution. A contract payment an account of which is to be made only from a parking meter fund is not, therefore, subject to the statutory requirement pertaining to certifications."

However, at the time Mayor Cranmer ordered the meters, there was no "parking meter fund." Prior to 1954 parking meter revenue did go into a separate fund. In 1954 the parking meter fund was done away with and all revenue from the meters went into the general fund.

Earlier this year a state examiner told the auditor there should be a separate parking meter fund, so such a fund has been re-established.

$12,842 Bill Is Received
Sitting quietly in the background in the parking meter controversy is City Council. Except for the bickering between the mayor and the auditor, the dispute did not come to a head until this week when the Magee-Hale Co. presented the $12,842 bill for the meters.

This includes $12,285 for 270 new meters installed along the curbs downtown last fall and eight other meters purchased separately for $557.

Mayor Cranmer is asking that Council agree to pay the $12,842 at a rate of $1.50 per meter per month. At this rate it would take about 28 months to pay off the debt. The Magee-Hale Co. says it will charge no interest.

In his written opinion, the solicitor said that City Council can not now or in the future authorize payment of the contract in question unless the auditor issues a true certificate stating that there was a sufficient amount "in fund" or being collected for the purpose of purchasing meters at the time the contract in question was executed.

Although it may never be satisfactorily determined how the parking meter "snafu" was caused, there seems to be little doubt that the debt will eventually be paid — even if the Magee-Hale Co. has to bring a claim against the city.

Meanwhile, the 278 meters in question continue to bring in about $2,300 a month for the city treasury.

Six Killed As Vehicle Rams Bridge

MANNING, S.C. (AP)—A station wagon carrying nine persons home to Ohio crashed into a bridge Friday and broke into flaming pieces on heavily traveled U.S. 301. Six persons died, four of them children.

One of the victims—Mrs. R. L. Munger, 30, of Gates Mills, Ohio—was the daughter of Myron H. (Mike) Wilson Jr., president of the Cleveland Indians baseball club of the American League.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Munger; one of her twin sons, Bobby, 7; Mrs. Frank F. White, about 40, of Cleveland; and three of her children, Margaret, 4, Frank Jr., 9, and Peter, 6.

Husbands of the two victims didn't know until they arrived here early today which of the seven children involved were dead. Until then, authorities had only a list of names from the lips of a 7-year-old girl.

Hospitalized were Jeffrey Munger, 4; Myron Munger, Bobby's twin brother, and Pamela White, 7.

Identities of the adults were made at first through papers on their bodies. Pamela White was able to give authorities names and approximate ages of five of the other six children.

The Highway Patrol said visibility was good and the pavement dry when the car hit Pudding Swamp bridge at Turbeville, about 20 miles north of here.

Ex-Yugoslav Vice President Under Arrest

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Milovan Djilas, former vice president of Yugoslavia and critic of the Communist system he helped build, was arrested today.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Information said Djilas had been taken into custody but did not give the reason for his arrest.

The 51-year-old Djilas was first arrested in 1957 for his book "The New Class" expounding on the shortcomings of communism. He was released in 1961 after serving four years in prison.

Djilas, once a close associate of Marshal Tito and mentioned as his possible successor, refused to recant his theory that communism on overthrowing the old order, inevitably develops a new class of exploiters.

He has a new book dealing with his discussions with the late Soviet dictator Stalin due to be published in the United States within a few weeks. Two weeks ago, Yugoslavia approved a new law making it a crime to write on subjects that might harm Yugoslavia.

Djilas stood by Tito when Stalin attempted to destroy the Tito regime in 1948, but he later became an outspoken advocate for more democracy in Yugoslav politics.

Djilas' writings and speeches finally led to his expulsion from the government and important positions in the Yugoslav Communist party in 1954.

He was convicted of conspiring against the Yugoslav government and received a three-year prison term in 1956. But his book "The New Class" was completed in the meantime and smuggled out of the country.

When it was published in August 1957 Djilas was retried and sentenced to nine years imprisonment. It was later shortened for good behavior.

PTA To Discuss United School Job

The proposed $298,000 United School bond issue to be on the May primary ballots will be the subject for discussion when members of the Parent-Teachers Assn. of United School District meets at 8 p. m. Monday in the school auditorium. William Maple will preside.

The bonds would finance construction of an eight-room elementary school and vocational shop at United.

Mrs. Bernice Arter, program chairman, will introduce Mrs. Walter Blythe, president of the board of education; Peter Marra, principal, and Frank Solak, principal of the high school, who will speak on the present and future needs of their respective schools; Paul Gipp, board member, will discuss the cost of the building project; Orland Weingart, board member, will tell of the need for vocational training in the high school, and George Smith, Youngstown architect.

All members, parents and those interested are invited to attend. Baby-sitting service will be provided for small children during the meeting.

Smoky the Bear Ejected From 1,000 m.p.h. Plane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Smoky the bear has shown it's possible to be ejected safely from a B58 bomber going more than 1,000 miles per hour at an altitude of more than 8½ miles.

A man probably will try it next, perhaps in a few weeks.

Smoky, a 125-pound American black bear with brown fur, was hurled from a B58 Friday as it raced at 1,060 miles an hour 45,000 feet over this desert test center. His ejection capsule, an aluminum enclosure about five feet high and two feet across, parachuted slowly to a scrub-covered bombing range and made a gentle landing, cushioned by shock absorbers on the outside.

Smoky seemed to find the ride quite bearable—although he really didn't know what was going on. He had been tranquillized before the plane took off, and he was still dozing when he came down. The purpose of the test was to help perfect an ejection capsule that will provide oxygen and protection from windblast for fliers who have to bail out of fast bombers at high altitudes.

CWO Edward J. Murray, 47, of Dayton, Ohio, tested the capsule Feb. 28. But he was ejected at a lower speed, 565 m.p.h., and at a lower altitude, 20,000 feet. A smaller bear was successfully ejected March 21 from a B58 going 870 mph.

in France, mainly because few political leaders or groups have dared come out against the appealing prospect of peace.

Within three to six months, residents of Algeria will be called on to vote in a referendum on whether they want to become an independent nation or retain the present relationship with France. It is generally expected they will vote for independence. The 9-1 majority of the Moslems over Europeans in Algeria seems to assure the result.

Foreseeing this, French voters were called on to give De Gaulle special powers to turn over sovereignty in Algeria to a provisional government. This will end a 132-year link between Algeria and France and will tear away France's last big colonial holding.

Leaders of the Algerian exile government in Tunis feel an overwhelming yes vote will give the French government an added weapon to fight the European extremists who oppose Algeria's independence.

Algerians are confident that the right-wing European Secret Army Organization is living on borrowed time.

Gosney Gets Support Of Democratic Group

At a dinner meeting Thursday evening in the Wick Hotel in Lisbon, Columbiana County Democratic office holders, Democratic city chairmen and the Democratic mayors of the county unanimously endorsed Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman, in his bid for a third term as 18th District state central committeeman in the May primary.

YOUNG DRIVER FINED

LISBON — Traffic court hearings at the Courthouse this week resulted in the fining of one young motorist and warnings to two others.

Jerry Allen Schaffer, 17, Winona, was fined $15 on a charge of speeding.

Samuel A. Cröwl, 17, Lisbon RD 2, and William J. Kusior, 17, Lisbon RD 3, were warned for having faulty mufflers on their cars.

Candidates

Smith of Salem, former county chairman of his party and one-time member of the Election Board.

Unopposed on the Republican slate are State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon, running for his seventh term, and Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of East Liverpool, asking a second term on the Common Pleas Court bench. Judge Joel H. Sharp is the hold-over member of the Common Pleas Court.

The two incumbent Democrats have no opposition. They are Commissioner Frank C. Wilson and Auditor Kenneth Bell, both of Wellsville and each seeking a second term. The Democrats' unopposed candidate for state rep. W. Stacey of Columbiana. The party has no candidate for Common Pleas judge.

On the county level, both the GOP and the Democrats will name a central committeeman in each of the 165 precincts. The posts are commonly known as precinct committeemen.

Both candidates are unopposed in the 18th Congressional District. Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, veteran Democrat, is running for his eighth term. The GOP candidate is John Carrigg, professor of history at the College of Steubenville.

In the state senate race, Republicans have a three-way contest and Democrats will settle a two-way fight. In the current biennium, the district is entitled to two senators because of periodic reapportionment. However, in the next term, it will have only one senator.

On the Democratic slate, the two incumbents are seeking re-nomination. They are Sen. Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry RD 1, out for a seventh term, and Sen. Edmund A. Sargus of St. Clairsville, seeking his second.

Bidding for the Republican nomination are Atty. Donald W. Elliott of Rogers; Allen J. Dalrymple of Wellsville RD 1, operator of the Ideal Chevrolet Co. at Wellsville, and Boyd Wallace of Cadiz RD 4, a farmer.

The congressional district is comprised of Columbiana, Jefferson, Carroll, Harrison and Belmont Counties. The senatorial district covers the same counties, less Carroll.

The parties will elect their state central committeemen from the five county congressional district.

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana is seeking re-election as the Democratic committeeman, opposed by John Taylor of Salem, operator of a printing concern and a former state senator, and John W. Targoss, Steubenville insurance agent.

Robert M. Bell is unopposed for his second term as Republican state committeeman. Mrs. Leitha C. Astry of Salem has no contest in her bid for a new term as Republican state committeewoman, and Miss Esther F. Pinsky of Bellaire is unopposed for re-election as Democratic committeewoman.

Can't Get Jury, Judge Dismisses Murder Charges

SNEEDVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The preacher said he had to preach a funeral. Teachers said they had to teach. But most said flatly they were prejudiced.

So, unable to seat a jury after five days, Circuit Court Judge Wayne Oliver dismissed murder charges Friday against two men accused in the slaying of two deputy sheriffs.

Lawyers believed it a precedent in state legal history and perhaps in the nation.

Only two jurors had been selected from 1,400 citizens—practically every adult in this small mountain village—for the trial of Carl Myers, 39, and James Horton, 19.

State troopers had been ordered onto the streets to find prospective jurors. Twenty-seven veniremen were fined up to $25 for failing to answer court summons.

"It is a sad, deplorable, regrettable, terrible fact that a jury cannot be had in this county," Oliver said in dismissing the charges. "The community is at a standstill so far as these cases are concerned."

The defendants refused to consent to moving the trial to another county. Under state law they have the right to be tried in the county where the offense was committed.

Myers and Horton were accused of killing deputies Lon Tyler and Alex Morris in a gunbattle last April. They also were charged with felonious assault on a sheriff.

Hunsaker Knocked Out In 10th Round

Another Fighter Seriously Injured; Has 50-50 Chance

By ED HAGAN
BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP)—Veteran heavyweight Tunney Hunsaker, 32, was in critical condition today from the effects of a knockout punch delivered in the 10th and final round of a fight Friday night.

He was afflicted with the same type of brain injury that caused the death of former welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret in New York this week. Doctors said he had a 50-50 chance for recovery.

Paret, who was to be buried in Miami today, never regained consciousness from the beating he suffered at the hands of Emile Griffith March 24. In contrast, Hunsaker walked to his corner after taking the 10-count and collapsed while being examined by the ring physician at nearby Beckley, where the fight was held. His opponent was Joe Sheldon of Cleveland, Ohio.

Hunsaker, a former police chief of Fayetteville, W.Va., was rushed to the Bluefield Sanatorium, a distance of nearly 45 miles, and underwent an emergency 2-hour operation by Dr. E. L. Gage, a brain specialist.

Dr. Gage said Hunsaker underwent surgery for a subdural hematoma hemorrhage on the right side of the brain, which had caused paralysis to the boxer's right side.
Paret suffered a similar injury after his 12th round beating from Griffith.

Mrs. Hunsaker, who collapsed when she first entered the ambulance at Beckley to be at her husband's side, said Dr. Gage told her after the operation there were signs of movement on Tunney's right side.

"But we are not encouraged too quickly," the doctor told her.

"As soon as I realized he was unconscious, I thought of Paret and how similar it seemed," she replied. Mrs. Hunsaker said that only a few days ago a sportscaster had asked her husband for his views on the Paret case, and he replied: "You can get killed in a traffic accident just as easily."

Spectators said Hunsaker and Sheldon had mixed it freely. Hunsaker was stunned in the third and took an eight-count in the next round. He made a strong comeback.

Then, late in the 10th round, Hunsaker caught vicious right cross that floored him. He got up after the 10-count and wobbled to his corner.

A professional since 1958, Hunsaker had won six, lost 11 and fought one no contest in 18 fights before Friday night.

A native of Princeton, Ky., he was the heavyweight Golden Gloves champion in Texas in 1952 while serving in the Air Force.

Braves Defeat Indians 4-3

A's Trip Yanks 3-2 On Wyatt's 5 Hits

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
John Wyatt, a towering, 27-year-old sidearm who spent the last nine years kicking around the minors, could be a dream-come-true for Kansas City Manager Hank Bauer.

Wyatt, a fast baller, now has won four games and lost only one for the pitcher-hungry A's. His latest conquest was a 3-2 victory over the world champion New York Yankees Friday.

In eight innings, he limited the Yanks to five singles. Not one of the hits reached the outfield on the fly.

Bauer had little reason to expect much from Wyatt. After all his years in the minors, he still hadn't attained the status of a starter last year with Portsmouth of the Sally League.

But if Wyatt could be considered old for a rookie, consider the case of Diomedes Olivo, a rookie pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates. They're pitcher-hungry, too, as witness Olivo's age, 42.

He wasn't so lucky, though. He started for the Pirates against the Washington Senators. He was on hand for three innings. During that time, he gave up six runs—five unearned. The Senators went on to defeat the Pirates 11-9 at Portsmouth.

Another rookie who did himself proud was Mac Jones of the Milwaukee Braves. He doubled with the bases loaded off Don Rudolph in the ninth inning to enable the Braves to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, at Tucson.

Sam Ellis, trying for a berth with the Cincinnati Reds, starred against the Chicago White Sox at Macon, Ga., and was clobbered for five runs in the first inning. The Sox went on to win the game, 8-4, their fifth straight decision against the Reds.

Elsewhere, the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the New York Mets 5-2 at St. Petersburg; the Chicago Cubs whipped the Boston Red Sox 5-1 at El Paso; the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers played an 8-all tie at Phoenix.

The Los Angeles Angels won a day-night doubleheader from the Houston Colts 1-0 and 4-1. The first game was played in Fort Worth, the second in Dallas.

The San Francisco-Los Angeles game was called after eight innings to permit the two clubs to catch planes.

Ken McBride held the Colts hitless for 7 1/3 innings of the opener. Then Hal Smith doubled. Tom Morgan rescued McBride. In the nightcap, the Angels collected only three hits.

But American Rated Favorite

Downes Says He'll Knock Out Pender After Eighth Round

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Britain's Terry Downes, coholder of the world middleweight championship, feels he has Paul Pender's number and will knock out the American in their third title fight tonight.

"I'll get him after the eighth round," predicted the cocky cockney, who is recognized as king of the 160-pound set by Massachusetts, New York and Europe. Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, is considered the champion by the National Boxing Association.

Despite the 25-year-old Londoner's supreme confidence, the oddsmakers here had the 31-year-old ex-fireman from Brookline, Mass., an 8-5 favorite in the 15-round television—ABC 10 p.m. EST—bout at the Boston Garden.

Youngsters Steal Show In Bowling Tourney

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Two youngsters competing for the first time in the American Bowling Congress tournament stole the show from the established stars in their debuts.

Chuck Sisk, 20, of Sacramento, Calif., took second place in the classic division singles with a 728 series Friday. The 5-foot-4, 130-pounder had games of 248, 228 and 252 and was only 16 pins short of the leader.

Doug Sabby, 16, rolled a 679 to lead Minnesota door of Spring Lake, Minn., to the best regular division score of the day, 2998.

den. A crowd of 10,000 and a gross gate of about $70,000 is likely.

Well remembered here is the deft surgery performed by the clever American on the game Briton's nose in their first scrap 15 months ago. Pender's snapping jabs and fast rights split the bridge of Downes' nose. Twelve stitches were required to close the wound after the referee halted the blood-letting in the seventh round.

More difficult to understand is Pender's quitting on the stool after the ninth round of their return fight at London last July 11. He was cut over the left eye but was about even with Downes at that point.

Pender said he was weakened from a heavy cold. Accusations from the Downes camp that he quit could have aroused the bent-nosed veteran.

"He makes a lot of noise," said Pender referring to Downes, "but talking won't settle the fight. I'll show him in the ring. I'm ready."

Pvt. Baylor Carries Lakers Hopes In NBA Playoffs

BOSTON (AP) — Pvt. Elgin Baylor carries the hopes of the Los Angeles Lakers against defending champion Boston today in the opener of the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

Baylor, basketball's best cornerman, is the central figure for the Lakers in their bid to snap a Celtics' string of three straight world titles. He has Army leave to play the nationally televised (NBC-TV, 2:30 p.m., EST) game today and the second Sunday afternoon, also in Boston.

The best-of-seven series then moves to Los Angeles Tuesday and Wednesday with additional game, if necessary, here April 14, Los Angeles April 16 and here again April 18.

Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus is uncertain about Baylor's availability beyond this weekend.

"After the second game, we'll go on a game-to-game basis," Schaus said. "We were very careful to store up enough leave time so that Elgin would be able to play. But there is no telling what his Army duties will be from day-to-day."

Chisox Dump Reds 8-5 For 5th Straight

Cincinnati Reds were counting on Bob Purkey and Moe Brabowsky today to stop the Chicago White Sox, who have been beating the National League champions at will.

The Sox whipped the Reds 8-4 Friday. It was their fifth triumph in as many training tiffs with Cincinnati.

Pitching in the Louisville Fairgrounds wouldn't be new for Brabowsky.

The tall right-hander took a come-down when the Milwaukee Braves sent him to the Louisville Colonels (American Association) last spring shortly after acquiring him from the Chicago Cubs.

The Redleg draftee, now 26, has worked hard toward a comeback. Manager Fred Hutchinson gave Moe his nod, but so far has not committed himself on the former bonus beauty's outlook.

A former Cub manager, Bob Scheffing, is more confident. Scheffing now manages the Detroit Tigers. He declared a few days ago:

"I look for Drabowsky to be a consistent winner. He's still young and he has good stuff and a rubber arm."

It's Palmer vs Player In Final Rounds

Masters Golf Tourney Looks Like Rerun Of An Old Movie

By MERCER BAILEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The 1962 Masters Golf Tournament looked today like a rerun of an old movie thriller on television—Arnold Palmer vs. Gary Player going into the final rounds.

Last year at the midway point, these two were tied for the lead at 137. This time Palmer is 136 after a sensational 66 in Friday's second round; Player at 138 after a conservative 71.

So thoroughly have Palmer and Player dominated the tournament, it is almost as though it were a match-play event with only two participants.

Their closest challengers going into the third round were U.S. Open champion Gene Littler, who rode a sterling 68 to a 139 total, and little Gardner Dickinson Jr., whose 71 gave him 141. But they were forgotten pursuers.

Player seemed not the least disheartened that he lost his first round lead and fell two shots behind Palmer.

The small, sinewy South African star, hoping to become the first man ever to win Masters back-to-back, said he prefers to be two shots behind Palmer because that forces him to abandon his usual conservative style.

"You can't afford to play conservatively on this course against a man like Palmer," Player said. "He is always attacking."

Palmer, whose 66 was his best ever in the Masters, was happy with the situation, too.

"I like it just where I am," he said.

Par over the 6,990-yard Augusta course is 36-72.

A 149 was necessary to qualify for the final 36 holes. Fifty-two players made it. Some of the major casualties were former Open champion Tommy Bolt, former Masters champion Art Wall and Billy Joe Patton, who almost won the 1954 Masters, but finished third one shot behind Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

Beery Takes Firsts In Three Events

By CARL NANDRASY

Sweeping firsts in nine of 14 events and tying for first in another, Coach Karl Zellers' Salem High track team rolled over Campbell Memorial 79-39 in the Quakers' opening meet of the season at Reilly Stadium Friday afternoon.

Cool weather and a damp track prevented anything in the way of outstanding times, however several promising performances were noted on both squads.

Junior Bill Beery, Salem's all-around athlete, was top point-getter in the meet with first in the broad jump, the high jump and the 440-yard dash, aside from anchoring Salem's winning entry in the mile relay event.

Beery had little trouble in the 440 as he outdistanced the second placer, Salem junior Jim Ward, by some 12 yards. The speedy letterman was clocked at 57.7, somewhat slower than his best time last year of 53.6 in the event. Ward was timed at 57.5.

In the high jump, Beery leaped 5-6 to cop the event. His jump was far short of Don Davidson's best effort last year of 5-10. However it must be noted that due to weather conditions thus far this spring, the Salem high jumpers were getting their first attempts at the bar yesterday afternoon.

BEERY WON the broad jump event after copping the high jump and after most of the other entrants had completed three tries at the running pit. After two trial runs he jumped 19-3 for first place. In second place was the locals' Dave Edling with a leap of 19-1½.

The mile relay team along with Beery were Edling, Ward and Clyde Miller. The locals were not pushed in this race after Campbell's initial runner, sophomore Carmela Rosa, came up with a leg cramp and the team failed to finish the event. Winning time by the Quakers was 4:12.8.

Big gun for Coach John Franks' Memorial team was junior Man-

17-8, and was the first runner on the visitors' winning half mile relay team clocked at 1:39.1.

IT WAS all Salem in the mile run as the locals put on a long final kick of about an eighth of a mile to far outdistance the opposition. Sophomore John Tarleton broke the tape with a 5:01.4 time, while junior Bill Carter took second and junior Kenny Krause third.

Senior Ty Enders was a double winner in the weight events, copping the shot put with a 45-1 toss and capturing the discus with a hurl of 135-0. Senior Fred Kaiser was right behind Enders in the shot with a 44-1½ heave for second place, and sophomore Jim Anderson made it a complete sweep for Salem with third place on a 36-11 effort. Senior George Esterly added a second in the discus with a 119-4 heave.

Junior Piscitani, running the 120 high hurdles for the first time in competition, gave Salem another first in this event with a 18.8 clocking. Coach Zellers commented that Piscitani lacks speed in the event but has good form. Trying the event in practice recently, he knocked over most of the hurdles, the mentor said. In yesterday's run he missed only the last barrier, but finished the race strong.

JUNIORS GARY Hasson and Tom Pim finished first and second respectively in the 880-yard run. Hasson's winning time was 2:13.7.

Senior pole vaulter John Panetzott of Salem was forced to settle for a three-way first place tie with Campbell's Franklin Rudolph and Salem's Piscitani. All three vaulters managed the 8-8 mark but failed in attempts to get any higher in the cold weather.

Memorial's other first place came in the 180-yard low hurdles when junior Denny Reichert ram-bled over the barriers in 24.0. Salem's sophomore Reed Wilson was second and Mickey Secorm of Campbell third.

Wellsville will provide the Quakers with their second dual meet competition Tuesday afternoon at Reilly Stadium.

Baseball Season Opens With Different-If Not New-Look

By The Associated Press
Major league baseball opens another season Monday and Tuesday with a different—if not a new-look.

There will be two new clubs—the Houston Colts and the New York Mets of the National League. There will be four new managers—Casey Stengel of the Mets, back after a year's retirement, Harry Craft of the Colts, Mel McGaha of Cleveland and Billy Hitchcock of Baltimore.

And there will be three new parks—four if you want to count the return to New York's Polo Grounds, unoccupied since the Giants pulled up stakes and went to San Francisco after the 1957 season.

The Dodgers (and Los Angeles) will inhabit Walter O'Malley's dream park at Chavez Ravine. The Washington Senators have the new D.C. Stadium. And Houston has a 33,000-seat park ready to go while work continues on the domed stadium the Colts hope to have ready for 1964.

As usual, Washington and Cincinnati will get the jump on the others in their home openers.

The Senators have their presidential opener Monday against Detroit, with Don Mossi of the Tigers scheduled to oppose the Senators' Bennie Daniels after President Kennedy completes his "first pitch" duties. The NL champion Reds also start on Monday at home—with either Bob Purkey or Joey Jay scheduled to pitch against the Phils' Art Mahaffey.

Nine games are scheduled Tuesday, with Baltimore at the world champion New York Yankees, Los Angeles at Chicago, Cleveland at Boston and Minnesota at Kansas City in the American League, and Cincinnati at Los Angeles, New York at St. Louis, Chicago at Houston, Milwaukee at San Francisco and Philadelphia at Pittsburgh in the NL. All are afternoon games except the New York-St. Louis clash.

In a preseason balloting conducted by The Associated Press, members of the baseball writers association picked the Yankees to repeat easily in the American League, and the Dodgers to win a close race with San Francisco, Milwaukee, St. Louis and Cincinnati in the National League.

Semi-Finals, Finals Set for Tonight

Miner's Tavern Cage Squad Bumped In United Tourney

Miner's Tavern, Salem's entry in the United Booster Club's seventh annual basketball tourney, were bumped out of competition 67-57 by East Liverpool's American Billiards in action last night in the United Local gym.

In other action Shaffer Trucking of Wellsville nipped Cornecki A.C. 56-54, Akron Joe's All-Stars blasted Pisanello's 100-51 and Akron Black Label slipped past Magnolia 70-67. All four winners battle in the semi-finals tonight.

A strong second period sent the Billiards aggregation into the lead 35-26, after the teams had been deadlocked 12-12 at the end of the first period, and they stayed off several Miner's rallies to claim the victory.

John Riser once again led the Billiards crew with 18, while Jim Richards and Herb Lake followed closely with 16 and 15, respectively.

Jerry Shaffer's 14 was high for the Miner's. Bill Pauline banged in 12 counters and Bob Eskay cashed in for 10.

A last period rally by Cornecki A.C. after it had trailed by 10, counters throughout the bulk of the game fell short and Shaffer Trucking moved into the semi-finals tonight.

Charley Boykin and Harvey Hunt featured in the game for Shaffer as they swished the nets throughout the evening. Boykin ended the evening with 14 counters while Hunt added 12.

Five players from Joe's All-Stars hit in double figures as Joe's All-Stars completely routed Pisanello's.

Joe's moved to a 21-10 lead at the quarter post and was never threatened. The scoreboard read 48-22 at th half and 71-34 as the game entered the final playing period.

Dick Howard, of Western Reserve fame, led the attack with 28 counters. Charley Reigel was next high with 26, Bernie Coffman netted 14 and Bill Davis ad Ed Agoi added 12 each.

After trailing throughout most of the game Black Label charged ahead in the final minutes to nudge the Magnolia squad out of tourney action.

The Black Label crew led 17-16 at the end of the first period but trailed 43-34 at intermission, and 56-47 coming into the final stanza. Climo Lee sparked the Label squad with 21 points while Dave Scott's 17 was high for the losers. Here is tonight's schedule:

Akron Joe's All-Stars vs Akron Black Label, 7:30 p.m.
Wellsville Shaffer Trucking vs East Liverpool American Billiards, 8:30.
Tournament finals (winners of two prior games), 10 p.m.

Stock Car Racing Opener April 21

Canfield Speedway To Stage 'Open House' Event April 14

Canfield Speedway's 1962 stock car racing opener will be held Saturday night, April 21, but there will be plenty of activity at Canfield on April 14 when an "Open House" will be staged.

On Saturday afternoon, April 14, from 1 to 5 p.m. drivers and owners will be on hand for registration. Cars will be checked by Canfield officials and numbers will be issued. Then drivers will get a chance to test their cars for the long campaign ahead. Rain or shine, the open house will be staged.

On April 21, the MARC new cars - 1960-1961 and 1962 models - will get the 17th annual season of racing under way at Canfield. A 100-lap feature race will headline the program and MARC officials have announced that several 1962 autos would be making their racing debut.

Roy Gemberling of Kent and Ken Reeder of McConellsburg, Pa., are two of the early entries. They will be driving two 1961 Dodges.

Nook Walters of Niles has his 1961 Chevrolet ready for competition, while Bill Forney of Youngstown is also listed in a 1961 Chevrolet.

Ed Mitchell of Warren has a 1961 Ford in top condition. MARC has said some top-name drivers would be on the official entry list, which will be sent to Canfield next week.

The 1962 opener for the late models and amateurs will be held Saturday night, April 28.

Drivers are very busy trying to get ready for the opener, and the abundance of early interest indicates that fans will see some 100 cars in action at Canfield every Saturday night throughout the season.

Alliance Dentist Has Problem With Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Alliance, Ohio dentist has given the House Agriculture Committee a problem they can get their teeth into—and if their personal dentures aren't up to par the dentist sent along 25 spare sets.

Dr. David E. Howell wrote the committee that he has an oversupply of false teeth and is trying for a government subsidy.

"Maybe you could send the surplus dentures overseas as foreign aid," Howell suggested, adding, "This would motivate the people over there to buy our corn on the cob, solving the problem of surplus corn and dentures."

Along with the letter went the 25 sets of choppers to Rep. Frank T. Bow, R - Ohio. Bow quickly passed out the dentures to the other committee members.

Howell, continuing his thoughts on a possible solution to his overproduction, suggested "perhaps it would be simpler if you would just send me the money and I could just go into the non-making dentures business."

Leetonia Class Has Dinner Program At Lutheran Church

LEETONIA — The I. F. Mellinger Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday School entertained their wives, widows of former members, and former members and their wives at a 6:30 dinner at the church Wednesday evening.

The excellent fish meal was prepared and served by men from the Servicemen's Class and their teacher, Eldon Holt.

Following the dinner there was group singing, and a quartet composed of Thomas Cope, Mont Weikart, Ben Weingart and Paul Zimmerman sang two numbers.

Louis Raymond Jr., of Salem, blood chairman for the North Columbiana County Chapter of the American Red Cross, who presented a film on the subject, emphasized the need for more donors.

Since no bloodmobile visits Leetonia, the people here should give their blood in Salem, Columbiana or Lisbon for our district to receive credit for it, he declared. The Bloodmobile will be in Salem at Steelworkers hall April 17.

MISS JOYCE WALTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver

Walton, RD 2, Leetonia, and valedictorian of the graduating class of 1962 of the Leetonia High School, has received a $400 scholarship to the Bowling Green State University. She will use the scholarship to further her education for a teaching career.

Daniel Friedberg, guidance counselor in the Leetonia School System, will interview parents of all 8th grade students next week. Mr. Friedberg stated this conference is to give the parents a better understanding of what is expected of the student in high school and the course of study to be considered.

The Junior M.Y.F. met at the Methodist Church Thursday evening. Susan McElroy will have devotion for the next meeting and Dale Hall and Dennis Wire will serve refreshments.

MAYOR AND Mrs. Ralph Kennedy left Friday for a short vacation in Florida. While there they will visit his brother Henry Kennedy in St. Petersburg.

Six tables of 500 were in play at the benefit card party sponsored by the Rebekah Lodge Thursday evening. Mrs. Howard Feicht of Greenford and Mrs. Amanda Williamson of Columbiana received prizes for having high honors. Special prizes were won by Mrs. Ruby Johnson of Salem, John Hutter of Columbiana and Miss Mabel Middleton of Leetonia. Lunch was served by Mrs. Louise Yoo.

The next benefit will be held April 14.
